Comment #	Publication (Base, 63A, 63B, 63C)	Section	Page #	Line #	Comment (Include rationale for comment)	Suggested Change
1 63B		5.2.11	38-39	1481-1485, 1502-1507	In the first paragraph, an activation secret is defined as a secret used to decrypt a stored secret key or to provide access to an authentication key. However, in the last paragraph, the secret is defined as to be used to release an authentication secret or to decrypt an authentication secret.	Align the description of usage of the activation secret in the last paragraph (line 1502-1507) as "used to decrypt a stored secret key or to provide access to and release an authentication key".
2 63B		5.2.11	39	1506	The term "memorized secret" should be "activation secret" to align with the entire section.	Replace the term "memorized secret" with "activation secret"
3 63-Base		5.1	24	971-978	The five items listed under "The impact assessment includes:" and the four chapters from 5.1.1-5.1.4 does not correspond.	The five items listed under "The impact assessment includes:" and the four chapters from 5.1.1-5.1.4 should correspond one-to-one in content. (It should be composed of 5 chapters to match the 5 items).
4 63C		10.1	62	1921-1922	Paragraph between the line 1921 and 1922 would be more appropriate in 10.2 Specific Usability Considerations, as it is specific.	Relocate the paragraph between line 1921 and 1922 to 10.2 Specific Usability Considerations section.
5 63C		10.2.1	64	1984-1986	Please add a description of the stated intent and means to achieve written in a paragraph from line 1984 to 1986.	Add description such as "To minimize the personal data collected and protect privacy, IdPs should provide users with anonymous or pseudonymous options for data linkage to RPs and allow them to choose, in accordance with the organization's data access policy".
